CHAMPAGNES

CHAMPAGNE REGIONS

MONTAGNE DE REIMS

Located in the most northern part of the Champagne wine region, the area has more grand cru than the other subregions. The most common grape varieties in this area include pinot noir.

The southwards-facing slopes and the chalky limestone soil make excellent growing conditions. Together, these allow the vines to soak up a full day of sunlight, yet allow a cool, consistent humidity for the grapes.

THE MARNE VALLEY

It consists of more than 4,500 acres of vineyards, almost two-thirds of which are pinot meunier. The historic village of Aÿ sits within the Marne Valley. It's the only grand cru village in the region and is known for its delicious pinot noir grapes.

The terroir of the Marne valley stretches from Bisseuil to Charly-sur-Marne. Here, the soil contains high volumes of marl, which comes from lime-rich mud. Sandy, clay soil is also common in this subregion.

CÔTE DES BLANCS

Côte des Blancs takes its name from Chardonnay grapes. Blanc means white in French and 97% of the vineyards in this region grow this grape variety.

The area is renowned for its deeply hydrating chalky soil and is considered to have perfect growing conditions for the vines.

CÔTE DES BAR

Côtes des Bar is located in the southern part of the Champagne wine region. Pinot noir grape varieties dominate the vines in Côtes des Bar.

The area makes up 23% of the Champagne region, with 20,027 acres of vineyards.
